

OWES HE LIFE TO

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Vienna, W. Va.—"I feel that I owe the last ten years of my life to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Eleven years ago I was a walking shadow. I had been under the doctor's care for months. My husband persuaded me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it worked like a charm. It relieved all my pains and misery. I advise all suffering women to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It is a true and reliable medicine. It is made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record for the largest number of actual cures of female diseases of any similar medicine in the country, and thousands of voluntary testimonials are on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., from women who have been cured from almost every form of female complaint, inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, indigestion and nervous prostration. Every such suffering woman owes it to herself to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial.

If you would like special advice about your case, write a confidential letter to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free and always helpful.

Major Charles H. Ledward of Westerly will soon be commissioned lieutenant colonel of the First district coast artillery, R. I. N. Tillingshast to the colonelcy to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Col. George A. Forsyth. There was a contest among five captains for major to succeed Major Ledward, and Capt. Archibald C. Matteson was elected on the first ballot. The trio of officers are all United States War veterans and military men of considerable experience.

Major Ledward has been in the military service of the state continuously for 28 years, excepting when leave of absence was granted him to serve in the Spanish-American war, when he captained F company, First Rhode Island Infantry. He enlisted as a private and gained gradual promotion from grade to grade. When Companies E and F, Westerly, were consolidated, fourteen years ago, he was made the commanding officer. He held the commission of captain prior to that time and in all was captain for ten years. He has been major for nearly twelve years and his promotion was a recognition of long and faithful service.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Wyoming Sheep Shearing.

La Prele Camp, Inez, Wyo., May 21, '09.

Mr. Editor:—In your edition of 14th I was interested in the account of the sheep shearing contest back home and think perhaps that a short account of the manner and methods of the flock-masters in this country may not prove uninteresting to your readers.

This country (central Wyoming) is reached by a spur of the Chicago and North Western railroad from Chadron, Neb., and the route is through the Lander, Wyo., where it ends abruptly and from which point the primitive stage coach is still used for traffic north to Cody, the home of Buffalo Bill, and west to the Yellowstone country.

In this region just described and southern Montana is the greatest sheep country in America and during this season presents its busiest spectacle. About the first of May the bands (never "flocks" in this country) of ewes are "shook out," some in huge sheds, but the great majority on the open prairie or in secluded mountain recesses. It will perhaps be interesting to know something of the vast profits of these big shepherds. For instance, a sheep outfit near by, the Platte Valley Sheep company, own forty thousand ewes, of which the "best" lamb "out" $5 per cent. A lamb is valued at $2 at birth and when it is known that their feed costs nothing, except wintering, a few of the most game ones, it is plain what big returns are yielded.

At from three to six weeks old the lambs are branded and "marked," which consists of cutting off their tails and castrating the bucks, after which they are put in the herds to be suckled until fall.

Immediately after the lambing the shearing season is on, which in this region lasts until about the first of August. All the towns have "public pens," and some of the larger sheepmen have their own, when the necessity of waiting one's turn is avoided, and this is a big factor where everything is rush and the market price of wool is fluctuating daily.

Across one end of these corrals are the shearing pens, which are covered and usually divided into about a dozen pens, each of which is the work of one shearer—these small pens are filled by the men in the corrals, called "wranglers," who tally the number of head and are checked by the shearer with some West Side and the resolutions of waiting one's turn is avoided, and this is a big factor where everything is rush and the market price of wool is fluctuating daily.

These men are paid from 8 to 10 cents a head and average 150 head a day—last year's record for individual shearing in this country was 172-head, made at the Macoma, Wyo., public pens.

The fleece alone pays the entire expense of the sheep outfit, including herder's wages, and when he reaches 12 cents a pound, fleeces weighing from 13 to 18 pounds.

HERMAN A. GAGER.

The West Side's Modesty.

Mr. Editor:—I was somewhat interested in reading the account of a meeting held by a few of the taxpayers of the West Side at the residence of Mr. J. H. Baker, passed at that meeting, and was surprised to find we were not getting all that belonged to us, with a clerk in street department office, cashier water office, chief of police, chief of fire department, assistant chief, milk inspector, one selectman, one alderman, one councilman, one dog warden, one and sometimes two janitors of court-house. It would seem as if the West Side was a little shy on what belongs to them, it seems too bad to deprive them of their just rights after rolling up such a magnificent republican majority at our last city election. It would be too bad to sell the West Side fire station, as it might be used for a grocery store and interfere with some of our Hebrew so-called republicans.

There are several reasons why the present station should be sold and the apparatus placed at Thamesville house. First: The West Main street fire station is within fifty seconds of the Main street fire station, a condition you will not find in any other city in the state. Second: It will cost more than half the price of a new station to put it in proper condition. Third: Spring, Sumner, Ward, Elizabeth and Mt. Pleasant streets can be reached quicker and easier from Thamesville than the present station, and with the Falls and Main street station (within sixty seconds of West Main street station) and Thamesville station the West Side would be better protected than now under present conditions.

At present Thamesville is without protection from area. If you will look up the taxes paid and the men employed by the industries at Thamesville would it not seem to all fair-minded taxpayers that the people in that section were entitled to some of the benefits of our fire department which they help pay for.

There are some people who want the earth, and have nothing else to do but dig postholes and try to fence it in. There are other taxpayers on the West Side besides the chosen few who are entitled to fire protection.

A TAXPAYER.

At Thamesville who pays his share of the expense and is entitled to some of the benefits of the fire department. Norwich, May 29, 1909.

Waterbury:—The Rev. Frederick D. Buckley, rector of Trinity church, will deliver an address at the Memorial day exercises of the Center Congregational church in Torrington this (Monday) evening.
